That Charity Ball.

The talked of charity ball has been practically abandoned. The situation was pretty thoroughly discussed, and as no one seemed particularly anxious to undertake the responsibility of conducting the same to a successful issue, the project was given up.

A Rival for Ward McAllister.

The following special dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., appeared in the Cincinnati Enquirer of January 6:—Sam M. Hall, who, although a clerk in a coffin factory, has forced recognition as the social leader of Atlanta, has thrown exclusive circles into consternation, he announcing his coming departure for New York City, where he will shine as a society leader.

The Book club is the name of a new club, composed of ladies, for the circulation of chosen books, that promises to be a very successful addition to Lincoln's clubs.

Mr. Morton E. Roy of Benedict, Neb., and Miss Louise J. Pyle of Arberville, Neb., were quietly married in the par-they were granted a special charter by the legislature. But here the sect made themselves obnoxious, and Smith was killed while in jail by an infuriated mob.

The history of the Mormon church is well known but the subject is one of great interest, especially as Utah is making so great an effort to come into the union as the State of Deseret.

The doctrine of the Mormon people is a queer conglomeration, in which it is hard to disentangle truth from superstition. The eschatment bill which seeks to appropriate the vast funds accumulated by the church to some good purpose also came in for a share of the discussion.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Holyoke, January 22. Mrs. Hodgeman will discuss "Criminology."

The Century Club.
